

The X-Game Pilot –

The concept revolves around the locations that people do extreme sports. I am thinking about the guys who are dropped off on the top of mountain tops for skiing, or flown out to remote locations to begin a kayak adventure, flown out for scuba adventure at key reef locations, flown out to mountain range base camps. There could also be a component to this that is part rescue after x-treme injury J

I am not sure where this one leads but the diversity of flying locations and conditions versus terrain could be quite interesting.